

Course Title	Theories of Language Acquisition
Faculty	Faculty of Law and Business Studies Dr Lazar Vrkić
Study Programme	English Language
Professor	Tatjana Glušac, associate professor	Contact (e-mail address)	tatjana.glusac@gmail.com
Code		Course level	undergraduate (BA)	ECTS credits	9
Description (max. 100 words)	The aim of the course is to familiarize students with different factors that affect the process of second/foreign language acquisition. Moreover, the aim is to enable students to get acquainted with different theories that explain the effect of those factors. More importantly, the course is designed in a way that stipulates the application of theoretical knowledge by means of planning classes and design classroom activities that create a rich and stimulating learning environment.
Learning outcomes (max. 50 words)	The students understand different theories that explain second/foreign language learning and they can design such classroom activities and lesson plans that are inclusive of different factors. More precisely, they can skillfully maximize the presence of those factors that contribute to successful language learning and minimize those that hamper their students' progress.
Semester	7	Maximum number of visiting students
Language	English	Available for international students (YES or NO)	YES		