

Course Title	FUNDAMENTALS OF DEVELOPMENTAL PSYCHOLOGY
Faculty	Faculty of Law and Business Studies Dr Lazar Vrkić
Study Programme	Business Psychology
Professor	Associate Professor Vasić Aleksandar	Contact (e-mail address)	aleksandarvasic1966@yahoo.com
Code		Course level	Undergraduate (BA)	ECTS credits	8
Description (max. 100 words)	-Adoption of fundamental concepts and assumptions on the ontogenetic development of man, methods of research of development, and factors determining development. - Acquiring knowledge about theoretical understanding and results of research of the body, cognitive, socio-emotional, and personality development during the life cycle. - Understanding the importance of being familiar with basic development trends, tasks, and outcomes during the life cycle in different areas of individual and social adjustment.
Learning outcomes (max. 50 words)	Students gain fundamental knowledge and skills in knowing the rules and conditions of the psychological development of a person from birth to death. They learn to apply knowledge from the developmental psychology of the life cycle in further studies of psychology and various fields of psychological research and practice.
Semester	1	Maximum number of visiting students
Language	Serbian	Available for international students (YES or NO)		YES	